Last summer, me and my family went on a trip to London. On the last day, we wanted to see one of the biggest tourist attractions in London – The London Eye. It's 135 metres high and you can see all of the city when you're up there. In summer, it's open from 10:00 am to 9:30 pm every day.

We went there by underground. We got off at Waterloo station late in the afternoon. There was a big crowd of people waiting to buy tickets for a ride on The Eye. Two hours later, it was getting dark and we still couldn't get the tickets. Suddenly, we got a surprise. A strange man came up to us. He was wearing a yellow shirt and red trousers. He told us about a free illusionist show near the Eye so we went there. There were a lot of people sitting on the floor in the illusionist tent, and there was also a man sitting in the centre of it. He was sitting in the air!

Later, he did some other cool tricks. It was a really spectacular show!

In the end, we didn't get on the London Eye but we bought some T-shirts and a miniature London Eye wheel at a souvenir stall before we went for dinner.
